D. D. WILLIAMS. Equal Rights to All-Republi can Policy Vindicated. Wa'commend to our readers, Demotrate as well as Republicans, the speech on our first page by Mr. Elliott, a colored nember of Congress. Who would know color or race of the man was? Does not education, a clearact of statement, a about the progress of the cholera in these strangth of logic, and just, noble and patriotic sentiments that would do credit to any of the so-called superior race?--to the Bandolphs of Virginia, or the Marthalls of Kentucky? We have read lately a great many progress in Kentucky, and the the news conveyed in late cable dispatches the Federal Government has usurped at Hall and in other scaports of eastern the functions of States, and the measures pointed to as proofs of usurption are the Civil Rights bill and the Ku Klux bill. If the reader will take the pains to follow Southern States at the close of the war sought by legislative exactments to practically audity the ordinances of freedom, and that but for the intervention of Congress, if the States lately in Rebellion had seen left to their own pleasure, the emanciprtion of the slaves would have been but an empty boon, and worse than a mockery. But for the reconstruction acts of Congrees, the old slaveholders and former rebels would have ridden rough shod over the freedmen, and over their white friends.

The Federal Constitution would have been trampled under foot by these sovereign States who proceeded to pass laws in ntter and flagrant violation of that instrument, and its recent emendments. They passed laws that when found without employment, freedmen should be treated as vagrants; that if found selling form produce without a certificate from a white person, they should be imprisoned. The stories of their outraged are too well authenticated to be treated as myths or partisan inventions. The Democratic press, North and South, rail at the Ku Kluz bill of the Republican Congress, as everthrowing the Constitution and involving 'the covreign States; they are shooked at the sespower of the States, by the military power at the description of the President. To one of these Democratic creakers who thus arraingus a Republican Cangress and President, and demands how such infringements of law can be sanctioned, the New York Iribune replies by some political statistics which shows the results of Ku Klux terrorism at the South, in controling elections. Nor can it be doubt ed that unless stringent and summers messures were adopted and enforced to secure an untrammalist and voluntery expression at the polls in the Southern States the Ku-Kluz would accomplish the same results in other States, which were exhibit-

THE STOWELL ARTIFICIAL STONE COM-PANY. During the past ten years arobitects, engineers, and scientific men generally, have put their heads together, both in Europe and in this country, for twelve years of its ascendancy in the producing a good substantial, durable, and economical, as well as handsome artificial stone. Their efforts have in a great measure been crowned with success After varied experiments with different compounds, they came to the conclusion that concrete would asswer every pur pose, if properly manipulated. This material is composed of either gravel broken stone, or sand, depending upon the uses to which it is applied, bound to gether with hydraulic lime or cement. The cementation does not alone appear to be incohanical, but also chemical, and the substance indurates by age. The most reliable cement for this purpose is Portland cement, which 'is made artificially in England, from the clay and chalk formations. As everything depends upon the quality of the cement, machines for testing is have also been invented, and those who make a business of handling the article in large edifices are built of it.
